Some projects

Since its establishment, Credo consultants have worked across multiple local and international projects where they led communication activities that generated meaningful impact for clients.

Unlocking Climate Finance

The United Kingdom Nigeria Infrastructure Advisory Facility (UKNIAF) contracted Credo Advisory to provide event communications support for the Roundtable on State Access to Climate Finance.

The event, organised in collaboration with the Nigeria Governors' Forum, convened state commissioners, Directors General, and other key state government officials to exchange insights and experiences on accessing climate finance to achieve development goals.

As a strategic communications partner, Credo Advisory handled content development (event materials design and video production) and media relations for the event.

Content Development

Credo's Creative Studio collaborated with UKNIAF to design delegate pack materials for the event. The delegate pack included a folder, agenda, infographic cards, concept note card, and briefing notes. Credo Specialists developed strategic interview questions for target participants and conducted interviews during the event. Our Creative Studio produced high-quality short videos capturing the essence of the Roundtable event. The videos featured insights and takeaways from participants and key speakers, to ensure social media amplification of the event.

Media Relations

Credo Advisory tapped into its extensive media network, ensuring the Roundtable event received widespread coverage. Credo equipped the media with a comprehensive digital press kit packed with event materials, key messaging points, high-quality photos, and other relevant resources to ensure journalists had everything they needed to craft accurate and informative stories about the Roundtable event.

By facilitating the presence of national correspondents and conducting thorough media monitoring and analysis, we ensured that the event was amplified through prominent media outlets across Nigeria.

Enabling Global Nutrition

In partnership with Results for Development (R4D), Credo Advisory is at the forefront of driving nutrition agendas within the Scaling Up Nutrition (SUN) Movement across 66 countries in Africa and Asia. Our collaboration focuses on amplifying the SUN Movement's efforts under the United Nations, addressing critical nutrition challenges globally.

Branding Identity & Guidelines Development

One of our key contributions is the development of the branding identity and guidelines for one of SUN's initiatives, ensuring accessibility for global SUN Country Focal Points. We provided design recommendations to strengthen the initiative's identity and online presence, fostering stakeholder trust and recognition.

Establishing Communication Tools

Credo Advisory developed a comprehensive communications toolkit for SUN partners, equipping them with essential resources to enhance outreach. The toolkit included templates for stock photos, PowerPoint presentation and Word templates, logos, social media tools, testimonials, and detailed communications instructions, empowering partners to effectively promote SUN objectives.

Event Communications Support

Our services extend to providing technical support for hybrid and in-person events, notably the 2024 African Union Summit High-Level Nutrition Side Event held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. At the Summit, our team collaborated with key stakeholders and ensured seamless event communications, media relations, and social media campaigns.

Content Development

Credo Advisory's assistance includes developing marketing collateral for SUN's digital and social media platforms. Our Creative Studio has designed content that includes video testimonials and compilations, quote tiles, e-flyers, and event branding creatives. All our content is designed in alignment with the SUN brand and its existing marketing framework.

Driving Global Development through Nutrition

Through our partnership with R4D and SUN, Credo Advisory's work advances the Global Goals, notably combating malnutrition and hunger. By leveraging strategic communication initiatives and interventions, we are making tangible contributions to improving nutrition outcomes and fostering self-reliance among countries facing nutrition financing gaps. Our technical assistance to SUN underscores Credo's commitment to driving positive change on a global scale. Through our diverse range of deliverables and strategic support, we empower stakeholders, amplify voices, and catalyse progress towards a healthier and more sustainable future for all.

Investing in Women

Communications for Social Impact

Credo Advisory provides communication advisory and digital and brand communication support to eha Impact Ventures (EIV). EIV is a philanthropic investment enterprise that supports high-impact, women-led businesses in Africa. According to the World Bank, Impact Investment makes up about 2% of the total assets around the globe, with an even lesser ratio for impact investments focusing on female-founded businesses in Africa. With these realities, Credo Advisory supports EIV in positioning itself as a critical player in the global impact investment space.

Credo's assistance includes strategy development, social media management, content development, and organisational reporting to deliver key messaging to target audiences and create awareness of EIV service offerings, activities, and milestones.

Social Media for Social Impact

Social media is a predominant channel used to promote the achievement and activities of EIV. Credo's embedded communications specialists have launched social media campaigns ranging from business education to spotlighting female founders across Africa. The campaigns situate EIV as a thought leader in social investment while promoting the financing of African female entrepreneurs.

External Communications

Credo consultants developed robust external communications and social media strategies to support EIV's 5-year strategic objectives. The plan consists of best-fit communication initiatives to promote public awareness of EIV's investment services and impact on critical stakeholders. Key tactics were tailored for each social media platform to optimise communications efforts.

Content Development

Our Credo specialists work with our Creative Studio to ensure that tactical messages are deployed effectively. Credo's graphic and motion designers create digital content like social media flyers and videos to communicate business issues, service offerings, key milestones, and activities for women entrepreneur support.

Reporting Impact

Our support includes developing monthly and annual organisation reports on new investments, funding opportunities, and organisational activities. Through e-newsletters, we assist EIV with reporting its milestones, events, and notable impact investment achievements.

Fostering Dialogue

Credo Advisory was contracted by the United Kingdom Nigeria Infrastructure Advisory Facility (UKNIAF) to provide communications and technical assistance for the 2023 Electricity Act Roundtable.

UKNIAF facilitated a Roundtable on the 2023 Electricity Act jointly convened by the Nigeria Governor's Forum (NGF) and the British High Commission (BHC), which allows states to generate, transmit, and distribute electricity. This high-level gathering convened key stakeholders from state governments, ministries, departments, agencies, the private sector, and international donor organisations to discuss ways of scaling up power access to the state level.

Credo Advisory provided event communications advisory and services to the UKNIAF programme team. The scope of our technical assistance included media relations, social media management, content development, photography, and videography.

Media Relations

Our team facilitated widespread media coverage, leveraging our extensive media partnerships to disseminate messaging and information on the milestone event. We supervised the presence of national correspondents and energy reporters, coordinated interviews, and shared a digital press kit with event materials, messaging, photos, and related resources. This ensured the event's comprehensive and factual news coverage aligned with the UKNIAF programme objectives.

Social Media

Our team provided social media support and advisory for the Electricity Roundtable, developing and executing a strategy for event promotion and stakeholder engagement. Our activities included identifying target audiences, selecting appropriate platforms, and developing strategic messaging and content to promote the Roundtable and its outcomes. Our social media advisory aimed to increase visibility and engagement and foster online discourse on the sector.

Content Development

Our Creative Studio created various marketing collateral, including informative and engaging visual content, such as social media cards and videos, to highlight the key themes and discussions at the event. We collaborated closely with the UKNIAF and NGF communications teams to ensure partner alignment.

Credo Advisory produced a programme that featured event information, including objectives, agenda, partners, and speakers. Through artistic design and well-crafted content, the publication was a valuable resource for participants and stakeholders.

A two-minute video compilation was also produced, capturing highlights, key talking points, discussions, and outcomes from the event.

Photography & Videography

Credo Advisory provided professional photography and videography coverage of the two-day event, capturing key moments and discussions at the 2023 Electricity Act Roundtable. These visuals were valuable for future promotions, reports, and event documentation.

Census Communications

Communicating Nigeria's First Digital Census

Credo Advisory was contracted by the Washington DC-based Population Reference Bureau (PRB) to design a comprehensive communications strategy and implementation plan for Nigeria's first digital population and housing census. The United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) supported and funded the project. Credo's task was to develop a national communications strategy and public campaign to foster high levels of support and participation for the 2023 census.

Research

We conducted quantitative and qualitative research and analysis for a data-driven public campaign in collaboration with NOI Polls to assess public perceptions and attitudes. The research included a nationwide telephone survey across the six geopolitical zones, focus group discussions, and in-depth interviews with key stakeholders. Our specialists also conducted a desktop review of past censuses in Nigeria and census best practices in other countries, namely Ghana and the USA. The research findings informed the development of a communications strategy for the 2023 population and housing census.

Communications Strategy

Credo developed a fully integrated public campaign to raise awareness, mobilise communities, secure partnerships, and motivate citizen participation. The communications strategy incorporated media relations, branding, advertising, digital and social media, grassroots engagement, events, monitoring and evaluation, stakeholder engagement, and crisis communications.

Fighting COVID-19

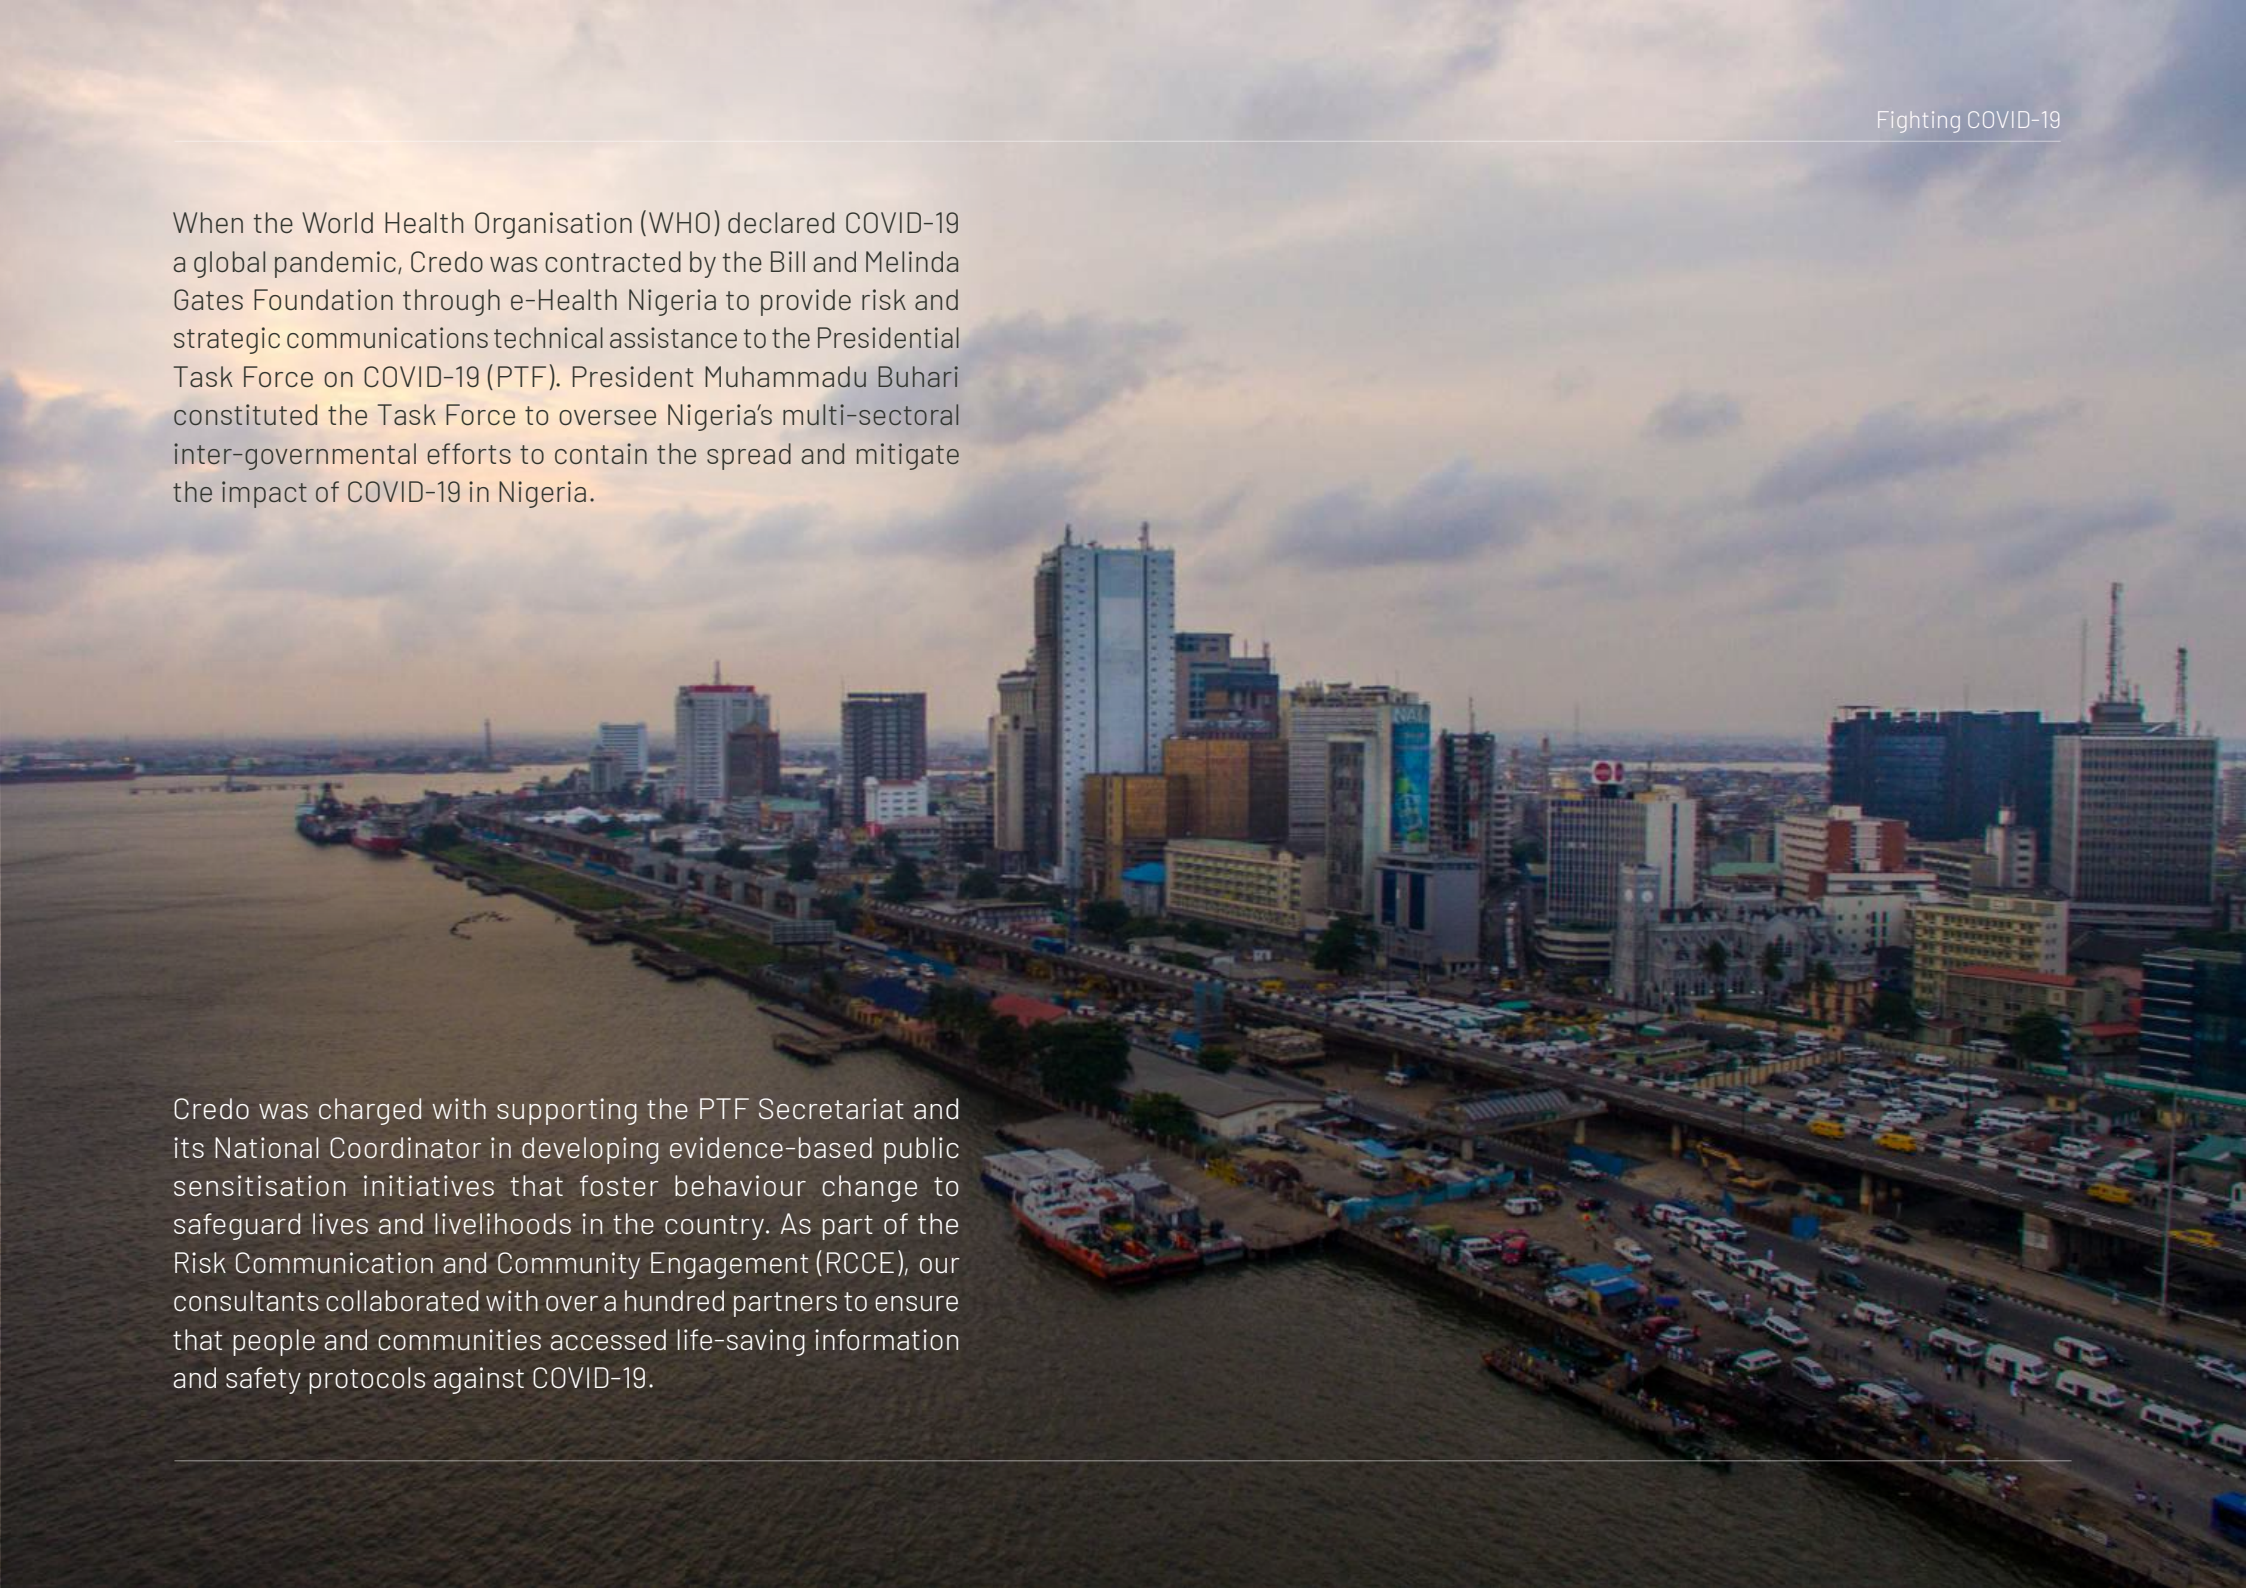

Nigeria's Response

Appointment to the Presidential Task Force on COVID-19 Secretariat

When the World Health Organisation (WHO) declared COVID-19 a global pandemic, Credo was contracted by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation through e-Health Nigeria to provide risk and strategic communications technical assistance to the Presidential Task Force on COVID-19 (PTF). President Muhammadu Buhari constituted the Task Force to oversee Nigeria's multi-sectoral inter-governmental efforts to contain the spread and mitigate the impact of COVID-19 in Nigeria.

Credo was charged with supporting the PTF Secretariat and its National Coordinator in developing evidence-based public sensitisation initiatives that foster behaviour change to safeguard lives and livelihoods in the country. As part of the Risk Communication and Community Engagement (RCCE), our consultants collaborated with over a hundred partners to ensure that people and communities accessed life-saving information and safety protocols against COVID-19.

Collaborating Across a Diverse Partner Landscape

Credo supported the development of a national communication and engagement strategy to counter COVID-19. We also helped implement this strategy across Nigeria's 774 local government areas in coordination with federal, state, and local government agencies. The agencies included:

The COVID-19 emergency response called for mobilizing and coordinating public and private sector partners across diverse function areas and pillars ranging from Resource Mobilisation, Points of Entry, Case Management, and Research. As part of the Risk Communication and Community Engagement (RCCE) pillar, Credo assisted RCCE activities from the national level to the grassroots across the country. Credo worked closely with partners, including:

Data-Driven Public Sensitisation & Engagement

Credo facilitated the development and implementation of weekly nationwide and state-specific polls that surveyed the opinions of millions of Nigerians about their COVID-19 concerns. Based on survey results and analysis, Credo consultants identified communication interventions for public awareness campaigns and developed messages to sensitise target areas.

We initiated various intervention mechanisms to address public concerns, including leveraging third-party advocates, aggressive social media campaigns, grassroots sensitisation, and mobilisation.

Vaccine Acceptance

Fighting the Pandemic with a National Communications Campaign

Our consultants provided the PTF with expert counsel and media and communications services. Credo's consultants devised messaging for risk communications and Government safety protocols in collaboration with members of the Risk Communication and Community Engagement pillar.

Credo's interventions included the development of crisis preparedness plans associated with the government's response to the pandemic, digital and social media monitoring, mitigation and response to mis/disinformation, and development of media talking points. They assisted PTF with daily responses to traditional and social media inquiries.

Information, Education & Communication Materials

Our Creative Studio produced creative materials to sensitise Nigeria's diverse target audiences. We developed visual and digital materials with messaging aligned with new government protocols, public advisories, and disease prevention measures targeting key audiences and stakeholder groups across traditional and digital channels.

Public awareness materials in English and various indigenous languages included:

- 2D animations
- Banners
- GIFs
- Infographics
- Newspaper adverts
- Presentations
- Radio jingles
- Social media flyers
- TV explainer videos

All creative materials were used and disseminated by private and public sector partners across the national, state, and local government channels.

Our Creative Studio also developed branded materials for the Task Force, which included logo designs, campaign slogans, and logos.

Strategic Media Relations

Credo also managed the media appearances of the PTF's National Coordinator and publicised those media engagements on pertinent channels. We supported the client's on-air appearances and related COVID-19 messaging. We facilitated transparency with press releases, media articles, opinion pieces, etc., to strengthen media and public awareness of PTF messaging and activities. Our team monitored media coverage of the PTF and COVID-19 and effectively countered misinformation and disinformation through our media partnerships.

Our specialists spearheaded the PTF Secretariat's media relations with assistance that included daily press conferences, media talking points, and scheduling media interviews and appearances for the PTF National Coordinator.

Communication Campaign Transparency

To improve partnerships' coordination for an effective response to the pandemic, Credo supported the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the Nigerian Economic Summit Group (NESG) in developing a communications tool, a resource-tracking dashboard, to enhance awareness and transparency on the PTF's resource mobilisation efforts.

This dashboard was a real-time accountability tool and was structured along with financial contributions, material and in-kind donations, capacity and technical assistance, and state response to the PTF.

Impact through Strategic Collaboration

During our work with the Presidential Task Force on COVID-19, we mobilized 55+ content creators and digital influencers, comprising advocates from the media, entertainment, on-air personalities, youth, women, traditional and religious groups as well social activists.

The campaign ran across Nigeria's six geo-political zones in partnership with federal, state and local actors. Our tailored approach ensured that messaging incorporated social, cultural and demographic factors fostering trust to secure lives and livelihoods.

Credo successfully promoted this national public awareness campaign and supported coordinating community mobilisation and behaviour-change campaigns. The effectiveness of these campaigns was amplified through strategic collaboration with PTF partners.

Vaccinating
for Recovery

Part of the Federal Government of Nigeria's response to the COVID-19 pandemic was to provide Nigerians with access to safe and effective vaccination through the National Primary Health Care Development Agency (NPHCDA).

To support this effort, a team of Credo specialists and designers worked closely with the NPHCDA Risk Communication and Demand Generation sub-committee mandated to design and launch a national COVID-19 vaccination campaign nationwide. Specifically, Credo assisted with developing communication messages and products designed to build public trust and foster demand generation for the COVID-19 vaccine.

Stakeholder Advocacy

As a member of the Risk Communication and Demand Generation sub-committee, Credo supported the development of advocacy plans as part of an extensive engagement framework with Federal, State, and Local Government stakeholders. Our advisory helped the agency in its stakeholder mapping, critical message development, and review of engagement strategies.

These strategies targeted stakeholders, influencers, and third-party advocates such as religious leaders, traditional rulers, health care workers, media personnel, Civil Society Organisations, etc., across the 774 Local Government Areas in Nigeria.

Our consultants created the agency's sensitisation creatives for various stakeholders and supported advocacy plans to promote vaccine acceptance in the country.

Event Communications

Part of the agency's public awareness programme was to drive vaccination messages to targeted stakeholder groups through virtual and physical events. Credo supported the national campaign with event communications technical assistance for NPHCDA stakeholder events and community town halls. These events were channels to mobilise individuals, associations, and communities to participate in the national vaccination programme.

Credo supported the Risk Communication and Demand Generation sub-committee throughout the value chain of the event process (pre-event, event, and post-event). Our contributions included selecting key speakers, agenda design, key messaging, event branding, IEC materials development, and media coverage.

Public Campaign Materials

Collaborative efforts of Credo specialists and the design team resulted in developing a wide range of Information, Education, and Communication (IEC) materials for the national COVID-19 vaccination campaign. Credo's Creative Studio worked with NPHCDA from conceptualisation to the final production of all public campaign materials disseminated across Nigeria.

Where applicable, these materials were translated into local languages as part of grassroots sensitisation campaigns to tackle vaccine hesitancy and promote vaccine benefits.

Credo also provided advisory on targeted platforms/channels and leveraged content creators and digital influencers from the entertainment, advocacy and health sectors for maximum reach to the target audience.

COVID-19 VACCINE MAGNET RUMOURS

- 1 The COVID-19 vaccine does not contain metallic substances.
- 2 The small volume of vaccines given (0.5ml) and the size of the needle used for vaccination cannot allow metals or microchips to pass through into the body.
- 3 If the vaccine produces magnetism, the whole body should be magnetic and not just the vaccination site.
- 4 Vaccines diffuse into the body to trigger the immune system that produces antibodies for protection against diseases and infections.
- 5 The body contains weak ions which are insufficient to produce magnetism. This is why MRI (Magnetic Resonance Imaging) can be used on humans.
- 6 Objects made of metal or glass can stick to persons with wet, sticky or hairless skin.
- 7 Strong friction allows objects to stick to the skin.
- 8 Research by physicists shows that humans cannot produce a magnetic field.

Assisting the Poor & Vulnerable

Credo Advisory provided strategic communications support to the National Social Safety Nets Project (NASSP) as part of the Federal Government of Nigeria's plans to improve the lives of citizens through better distribution of resources under its social protection initiatives. The NASSP project involved establishing systems and a national database – the National Social Register– for effectively targeting and delivering social assistance and implementing cash transfers to identified poor and vulnerable households. Credo developed communication materials and products for NASSP to facilitate awareness and understanding of its project objectives at Federal, State, and Local Government levels. Credo's support also involved reviewing and validating NASSP's communications strategy and developing Information, Education, and Communication (IEC) materials as part of the project's public awareness campaign.

Communications Strategy Validation

In preparation for its nationwide campaign, its communications strategy needed to be fit for purpose. Credo consultants were tasked with reviewing, revising, and validating the existing strategy, which involved desk research, stakeholder mapping, and evaluation of the proposed messaging architecture, communication channels, and tools for each stakeholder group. Our specialists conducted a thorough assessment, validation, and revision of the strategy to ensure impactful implementation.

Enlightening the Public

Through Credo's Creative Studio, our specialists developed IEC materials for the NASSP public campaign. These materials included:

- An animation explainer video on the National Social Register development process.
- Infographics and e-flyers on the project's COVID-19 response strategy.
- Newspaper advertorial on the National Social Register.

Credo Advisory also developed IEC materials translated into the three major Nigerian languages (Igbo, Yoruba, and Hausa).

Making NASSP Visible

Credo's Creative Studio supported the rebranding of the NASSP project by developing new logo designs. Our Studio also developed promotional materials such as T-shirts, mugs, and notepads to promote the project's impact on the lives of poor and vulnerable Nigerians. These branded materials were distributed at high-level NASSP events and community engagement.

Communicating in Crisis

The dynamic nature of the NASSP project called for the strategic integration of a communications framework to manage potential crises that could occur during project implementation. Credo specialists developed crisis communication guidelines as a reference for NASSP management to communicate effectively during emergencies. The document consisted of detailed recommendations to NASSP management for the pre-crisis, crisis, and post-crisis stages.

Our communications strategy development, content development, and design expertise were utilised in executing the NASSP project. With Credo's support, NASSP was fully equipped with a holistic communications strategy and a wide range of communication materials in English and local languages to execute its public awareness campaign targeted at all stakeholder groups.

Social Distinctions in Nigeria

13 Conclusion

Social Protection in Nigeria

Nigeria's increasing population and developmental challenges have necessitated the Federal Government's commitment to addressing poverty issues. The 2016 recession which hit the Nigerian economy gave rise to the need for the Federal Government to establish effective and comprehensive initiatives to recover the economy and stabilize the standard of living for many Nigerians. The National Economic Recovery and Growth Plan (NERGP) was established in 2017 to address the recession.

The implementation of the ERGP resulted in significant improvement and stability for the economy. However, the positive impact on the economy failed to translate to an improvement in the livelihood of Nigerians. The National Social Protection Policy was then developed to address the issues of poverty, income inequality, malnutrition, unemployment, social exclusion, and insecurity, in line with the strategic objectives set out in the Economic Recovery and Growth Plan.

The National Social Protection Policy (2017) defines social protection as "a mix of policies and programmes designed for individuals and households throughout the life cycle to prevent and reduce poverty and socio-economic shocks by promoting and enhancing livelihoods and a life of dignity."

Social protection aims at improving access to essential services from the cradle to the grave (e.g. health and education), more equitable distribution of resources, poverty reduction, and human capital development to gain international acceptance (e.g. Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and Sustainable Development Goals (SDG)). It has grown substantially in Africa. In 2000, only nine countries had established social protection programmes; however, by 2012, 41 countries had activated at 245 programmes.

Power Sector Reform

Credo Advisory was contracted by the United Kingdom Nigeria Infrastructure Advisory Facility (UKNIAF) to provide communications technical assistance to the Nigeria Electricity Regulatory Commission (NERC) about the Federal Government of Nigeria's electricity reform agenda. Nigeria has the world's largest number of people without electricity, severely impacting its economy. The government's reform measures aim to increase much-needed electricity access to millions of homes, schools, hospitals and businesses.

Our mandate was to support NERC in communicating the sector's upcoming electricity pricing adjustment in line with the government's efforts to strengthen the challenged electricity supply industry. Credo's assistance included public engagement and sensitisation, improved transparency, and the establishment of a communications framework and strategy for NERC implementation.

Public Perception Assessment

Credo conducted an extensive assessment of NERC's communication activities in addition to the public perception of the agency. The evaluation included a broad review of NERC's public communication channels and public commentary and media coverage of its activities. Our specialists provided NERC with advice and recommendations on improving and maximizing its digital and online media activities.

We designed a media engagement plan with workshops and initiatives to engage, educate and sensitise the media on the key tariff messaging, NERC activities, and sector milestones.

Media Monitoring

Credo Specialists monitored media coverage and public opinion on the proposed electricity price adjustment, sector news coverage, and commentary on NERC's role. Insights from monitoring were used to revise NERC's communication strategy, messaging, and interventions to engage with stakeholders.

Communications Strategy & Implementation Plan

Credo consultants worked collaboratively with NERC's Public Affairs Department to develop a high-level communications strategy and implementation plan for the upcoming tariff review. The strategy involved quick communication interventions to promote transparency and public enlightenment around NERC activities on the electricity pricing review process. The implementation plan guided NERC's public consultations with electricity stakeholders (distribution companies, electricity consumers, pressure groups, media, government power sector agencies, etc.) in seven geopolitical locations.

Media Relations Advisory

With public outcry on the proposed electricity price increase and sensational news reported on the price review process, our specialists provided strategic media advisory to ensure best practice media relations and coverage of NERC's activities.

Content Development

Based on identified communication gaps, Credo's Creative Studio incorporated vital messaging into developing sensitisation creatives and materials. The social media flyers and creative content addressed customer complaints, communicated energy-saving tips, promoted payment of bills, etc. These sensitisation materials were boosted across NERC's digital and social media platforms.

Strategic Messaging for Public Awareness

Our support included developing strategic and tactical messaging that communicated NERC's regulatory role, the proposed tariff pricing review, and its related benefits to the public. Our developed messaging also positioned NERC as an independent body in charge of regulating the electricity sector in Nigeria.

Electricity Tariff Communications

The Nigeria Power Sector Programme (NPSP) under the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) engaged Credo Advisory to provide communications technical assistance to the Nigerian Electricity Regulatory Commission (NERC) on its tariff review public campaign. This engagement entailed developing communication materials to sensitise the Nigerian public on messaging and activities related to the reform.

Event Creatives

Credo's Creative Studio coordinated with NERC's team to develop a series of pre-and post-event communication products shared across digital and print media. Creatives included:

- 2D animations
- Event banners & backdrop
- GIFs
- Post-event high definition videos
- Public announcement flyers
- Social media flyers

Public Sensitisation - The Regulator

Our graphic and motion designers used various creatives to position and promote NERC as an independent regulatory body. Our developed communications products informed the public about NERC's stakeholder consultations, regulatory functions, Distribution Company roles and responsibilities, milestone announcements, reform activities to improve electricity supply, consumer rights, etc.

Powering Up Nigeria

Credo Advisory was contracted by the Association of Nigerian Electricity Distributors (ANED) to produce a coffee table photo book that captures the evolution of the electricity distribution sector from 2013 to 2021. The publication tells the distribution company (DisCo) story by chronicling their operations post-privatisation while also disclosing their achievements and milestones. Notably, the “DisCo Story” also included the historical context that formed the basis of the Nigerian Electricity Supply Industry and a deep-dive into the power sector challenges.

Chronicling the DisCo Story

Our consultants worked closely with ANED Management and DisCo representatives to develop the landmark publication (Powering Up Nigeria) through material and information gathering, research, data analysis, photographs, and other milestone highlights. Execution included:

- Consultations with the ANED Communications team and Management to conceptualise the book, determine core objectives and messaging priorities and as well as determine the protocols for content and data collation and submission.
- Conducted qualitative and quantitative research, which included in-depth interviews with past and present power sector operators in both private and public sectors, research historical documents, policy papers, news media coverage, etc.
- Collation of data, photographs, and testimonials from ten Nigerian Distribution Companies.

- Conducted publication review sessions and presentations to communications representatives from ANED and the ten DisCos.
- Editorial, copyrighting, designing the book draft and establishing a consistent layout, formatting, and developing supporting graphics.

A Publication Long Overdue

After 18 months, Credo consultants produced a high-quality 360+ page photo book that reveals a complex electricity supply sub-sector. Powering Up Nigeria comprehensively captures the transformation of electricity distribution since the privatisation of November 1, 2013.

The international standard publication sets the context of the Nigerian Electricity Supply Industry, explaining the generation, distribution and transmission challenges, the promise of the privatisation and role of the DisCos on the way forward, strategic reform initiatives undertaken by DisCos, the role of data in measuring performance, extensive supporting photography, testimonials from various public and private sector stakeholder and much more.

At the end of the book, each distribution company was profiled with their operational activities and milestones highlighted for greater insight into their efforts to bring electricity to Nigerian homes and businesses despite the challenges that pre-exist them and continue to exist today.

International Recognition

Credo's work in risk and development communications has been recognized in three international publications. Our communications impact was referenced in a Princeton University case study (All Aboard: Nigeria's Federal Government Streamlines Pandemic Response Coordination) on the Government's COVID-19 experience.

A US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention article (Effect of Nigeria Presidential Task Force on COVID-19 Pandemic) and the National Library of Medicine (Effect of Nigeria Presidential Task Force on COVID-19 Pandemic, Nigeria) both referenced Credo's role as a member of the Presidential Task Force (PTF) on COVID-19 and a contributor to the National COVID-19 Multisectoral Pandemic Response Plan.

Acknowledging our COVID-19 support validates Credo's impact in executing international standard communication interventions in collaboration with governments, international partners, and the private sector.
